

Player Evaluation Report

"Work Hard. Be Memorable."

Andrew Peterson | Northwest Travelers 12U White | September 2, 2026

Strengths

- Strong, stable lower half that stays loaded behind the front foot without leaking power
- Excellent posture with the chest staying over the plate
- Good overall strength and pop in his swing

Areas to Improve

- Uppercut swing caused by hands dropping at the load, which creates topspin and pull-side ground balls
- Front shoulder tends to fly out during the swing
- Difficulty getting to high pitches
- Steps away from the plate on inside pitches instead of stepping toward the pitcher, even though his posture would allow him to handle it well

Recommended Drills

- Top-hand-only isolation drill driving low line drives up the middle to train staying through the ball without pulling off
- Progress into two-hand swings with a focus on the top hand driving through contact
- Point A to point B cue on the machine to shorten and tighten his swing path
- Goal: zero pulled balls off the tee, working toward backspin line drives to the middle and opposite field

Note from Coach Broc

Andrew has a lot to be excited about. During our session, his swing transformed into a shorter, tighter, and more powerful turn -- and that kind of progress in one session tells you how coachable he is. The areas noted above are very workable, and with consistent reps on the recommended drills, he can keep building on what we started. Thank you to the Peterson family for trusting LCB Training with Andrew's development -- and to his coaches for the support around him. We would love to keep training together and help him take the next step. Please reach out anytime.

Between sessions, Andrew can keep developing with The Next Level Playbook and the full LCB Training online platform -- video drills, workout programs, and coaching tools built to support his progress.
