

Player Evaluation Report

"Work Hard. Be Memorable."

Mikey Adams | Northwest Travelers 12U White | September 15, 2026

Strengths

- Naturally strong and powerful swing with a strong lower half
- Especially effective pull-side hitter on low pitches
- Coachable with real energy and confidence once his swing starts clicking

Areas to Improve

- Drops hands at the load, causing an uppercut path and foul balls or pop-ups
- Needs continued work on posture to keep the chest over the plate
- Tends to roll over on the middle-away pitch instead of staying through the baseball
- Building consistent confidence after a tough swing is a key focus

Recommended Drills

- Top-hand isolation drill off the tee -- direct path from load to contact without dropping the hands
- Progress to half-bat drill, then full swings on the outside half of the tee -- drive the ball the other way rather than pull
- Down-and-through cue on the machine -- keep hands and barrel above the ball for contact up the middle and the other way

Note from Coach Broc

Mikey, your natural power and pull-side ability really stand out -- and when your swing is clicking, the confidence shows. Baseball has its ups and downs, just like the best hitters in history, who succeed only a fraction of the time. Consistency and confidence will come with continued work.
